Report

Subject-A Psychological Study Of
Revaka Sahil Akshar Institute, wai
(School for Special Child)

Our student's visit to a special school was meant for understanding the learning tactic of mentally disabled children.

These schools acclimatize the method of educating students who necessitate special requirements in a manner that speaks to their individual disparities and desires. This visit has given me much knowledge in the field of special schools. Students can understand the process of teaching disabled during this visit. Teachers at this school have grouped ordinary special needs of students. These disabilities include communication disabilities, learning disabilities, poignant and behavioral muddles, improvement disabilities, and corporeal disabilities. They believe that their students are expected to be benefited from certain special forms of education such as different materialization of coaching, the exploitation of latest technologies, or an exclusively customized training place.

Students visit to a special school has given so much knowledge to share and they can decide to support these schools when they grow up and start earning sufficient amount of money. This is our purpose of arrange such a type of study tour. following students attended this visit in a small group.
