DEPARTMENT OF GEOGRAPHY
One-Day Workshop on "Google Earth"
25 September 2024
Report

A one-day workshop on "Google Earth" was conducted on 25 September 2024 at Department of Geography (C-8). The event aimed to provide participants with an in-depth understanding of Google Earth's functionalities and applications in various fields, including education, research, and urban planning. The workshop attracted students and teachers interested in leveraging geospatial technology for data visualization and analysis.

Objectives:

- To introduce participants to the features and capabilities of Google Earth.
- To enhance skills in geospatial visualization and mapping.
- To provide hands-on experience with Google Earth tools.
- To explore applications of Google Earth in different domains.

Session 1: Basics of Google Earth and Its Applications

Expert: Mr. Rahul Tayade

The first session covered the fundamental features of Google Earth, including navigation, layering, and coordinate systems. The expert demonstrated how to explore different terrains, historical imagery, and 3D visualization. Participants learned how Google Earth can be used for educational and research purposes.

Session 2: Advanced Tools and Practical Applications

Expert: Dr. Kiran Majalekar

The second session focused on advanced functionalities such as creating custom maps, importing GIS data, and utilizing Google Earth Pro features. The expert provided practical demonstrations on how Google Earth can be applied in environmental studies, disaster management, and urban planning.

The workshop concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by Ms. Dhanashree Karale, expressing gratitude to the experts, organizers, and participants. Special appreciation was given to the technical team for ensuring smooth execution and to the attendees for their active engagement.

The workshop was attended by 27 students in which 10 were male and 17 females. 04 teachers attended the workshop.

Output of the Workshop:

- Participants gained hands-on experience with Google Earth tools.
- Enhanced understanding of geospatial visualization and mapping.
- Increased confidence in using Google Earth for professional and academic purposes.
- Positive feedback from attendees, with requests for advanced training sessions.

The event successfully met its objectives, equipping participants with valuable skills and knowledge to utilize Google Earth effectively in their respective fields.
