Guest Lecture on "Human – Environment Happy Symbiotic Relationship"
6th January 2026

Report

Introduction

The Department of Geography and Competitive Exam Centre, Kisan Veer Mahavidyalaya, Wai, jointly organized a Guest Lecture on "Human-Wildlife Conflict" on 06 January 2026. The lecture was organized to create awareness among students about the increasing interactions between human populations and wildlife, the resulting conflicts, and the strategies required for sustainable coexistence.

Objectives

- To understand the concept and causes of human-wildlife conflict.
- To create awareness about wildlife conservation and forest management.
- To explain the role of the Forest Department in mitigating conflicts.
- To provide practical insights useful for competitive examinations.
- To sensitize students towards environmental protection and sustainable development.

Brief of the Guest Lecture

The program commenced with a welcome address by Mr. Tanaji Hake, Assistant Professor Department of Geography, who introduced the theme of the lecture and highlighted its relevance in the present environmental scenario.

The guest speaker, Hon. Rahul Nikam, Zonal Forest Officer, Wai, delivered an insightful and experience-based lecture on human-wildlife conflict. He explained the major reasons behind such conflicts, including deforestation, habitat fragmentation, urban expansion, and climate change. He shared real-life examples from the Wai region, highlighting conflicts involving wild animals such as leopards, wild boars, and monkeys.

Mr. Nikam elaborated on the preventive and mitigation measures adopted by the Forest Department, such as awareness programs, compensation schemes for farmers, rescue operations, and community participation. He also guided students about career opportunities in the forest services and the importance of environmental laws and policies.

An interactive session followed, during which students and faculty members actively asked questions related to wildlife protection, forest policies, and competitive examinations.

Vote of Thanks

The Vote of Thanks was delivered by Ms. Manisha Shewale, Assistant Professor Department of Geography, expressing sincere gratitude to Hon. Rahul Nikam for sharing his valuable knowledge and field experiences. Appreciation was also extended to the Principal, faculty members, Competitive Exam Centre, and organizing committee for their support and cooperation in making the program successful.

The workshop was attended by 36 students in which 18 were male and 18 females. 04 teachers attended the workshop

Outcome of the Programme

- Students gained practical knowledge about human-wildlife conflict and conservation strategies.
- Enhanced awareness about environmental issues and wildlife protection laws.
- Competitive examination aspirants benefited from real-life examples and current issues.
- Inspired students to consider careers in forest services and environmental management.
- Strengthened collaboration between academic institutions and forest administration.
