❖ Vision

The Department of Psychology at Kisan Veer Mahavidyalaya, Wai will strengthen the science and practice of psychology at the local, regional and national levels through our innovative scholarly contributions, our dedicated service, and our rigorous preparation of critical thinkers, future scientists, and practitioners.

❖ Mission

In accordance with the mission of Kisan Veer Mahavidyalaya, Wai, the Department of Psychology provides an energetic learning environment at graduate levels. The department strives to develop and apply knowledge and skill sets that will allow faculty and students to engage in the science and practice of psychology. As we teach, conduct research, and perform service, we strive to:

- Increase psychological knowledge;
- Apply psychological knowledge;
- Improve critical thinking and scientific literacy;
- Establish research methodology and statistical skills;
- Enhance written and oral communication; and
- Promote ethical behaviour.

Psychology faculty provide rigorous classroom, research-based, and field experiences in applied and basic areas of psychology to prepare students for their careers and graduate academic endeavours. These experiences are steeped in psychological practices as well as ethical principles and are designed to prepare students for the increasing and internationalization of the workforce and academia.

❖ OBJECTIVES

- Apply and critically evaluate the ideas, theories and research findings within psychology.
- Develop and practice oral, written, and interpersonal communication skills.
- Prepare students for graduate study and/or entry-level work in the social services.
- Prepare students for professions, other than psychology and the social services that require an understanding of human behaviour.
- Learn to integrate psychology theories and research findings with the professionally and personally.
