A flower bouquet is a collection of flowers in a creative arrangement. There is a correlation of size, shape and colour of the flower to be considered while preparing the bouquet. This art will give you an opportunity of self-funded business as there is a competition in the cooperative world outside the college campus. Bouquet is needed for various ceremonies and religious functions in the society and therefore it is unavoidable to have a bouquet to be presented on the important joyful events. Such as birthday, wedding, inauguration ceremony etc. this is most flourishing business in the days to come. This is creative art and is priceless fun and satisfaction can be expressed by preparing beautiful garlands and bouquets. Rangoli is a spiritual distribution of colours and are made by using several materials like flowers, petals, rice, flour etc. Students used all these materials and made different types of beautiful floral rangolies. All the students feel very happy and they enjoyed the program.
