- Principal Dr. Gurunath Fagare chaired the programme.
- Dr. Bhanudas Agedkar, Co-ordinator, proposed the vote of thanks

5. Evidence of Success:

- The college has organized this state level competition for the last nine years very successfully.
- The students from several colleges in Maharashtra have participated in this competition over the years.
- The competition has helped to highlight Kisan Veer's contribution to freedom struggle and also to the reconstruction of India after independence.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required:

- The organizers of this competition expect maximum participation from various colleges. However, due to Corona Pandemic, the competition has not received wide response from the students.
- The college requires some resources in the form of sponsorship to increase the amount of first, second and third prizes.

5. Evidence of Success:

- Women Empowerment Cell enabled women to identify themselves and their role and responsibilities towards society.
- It emphasized sensitive issues like honour killing, abortion, discrimination, dowry, child marriage, etc.
- It gave spiritual, political, socio-economic strength to women of every class, creed or culture.
- It always encouraged women to express themselves freely and confidently.
- It helped women realize their power, ability and status in the society.
- It enabled women to protect themselves confidently from any kind of harassment from the family members, neighbors, relatives at public places.
- It became successful in providing women equal rights in the political, economic and social spheres.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required:

- Taking into consideration the problems encountered by the lady staff, the management decided to shift Ladies Common Room to provide privacy to them.
- The demand for regular cleaning of the Ladies toilets was resolved by appointing additional sweeper.
- A separate arrangement has been made for the disposal of sanitary pads.
- As the strength of the girl students has been increasing, the institution requires the assistance of the Health Care Staff.
